"My name is Tran Quoc Viet, and I have recently completed my Master's degree at Lviv Polytech University. My experience as an international student majoring in International Economic Relations has been really positive. The professors, teachers, and academic staff here are always super supportive and helpful. This is an environment where students can have the chance to discuss real-world issues, work in teams, and also are offered many opportunities to take part in extra curriculum activities. As a foreign student, I was delighted when I was encouraged to apply and given the same opportunity as Ukrainian students to be considered for the Erasmus+ program. In the end, I was selected to be one of a few students in my department to take part in the program, which allowed me to spend one semester at Kingston university in the UK (all expenses covered). To me, the knowledge, experience, and qualifications obtained from Lviv Polytech university are valuable and can undoubtedly enable me and many others to have a good career prospect."
